FLOW OF COLLABORATION PROCESS

The California Endowment
Our Future in California

Works to cultivate community health prevention practices in order to improve neighborhood conditions.

Building Healthy Communities Collaborative

Building Healthy Communities is a ten-year, placed-based-focused initiative occurring in 14 selected target areas across the state of California.

BHC Site: South Sacramento

FLOW OF COLLABORATION PROCESS

COLLABORATION THROUGH PARTNERSHIPS

What have been the changes catalyzed by Sacramento Building Healthy Communities’s investments in SCUSD?

COLLABORATION AND GOALS

Sacramento City Unified School District: 2010-2014 Strategic Plan Pillars of Change

PILLAR ONE
Career- and College-Ready Students
Preparing students for the path of their choosing while developing skills that are tied to the real world of work.

PILLAR TWO
Family and Community Engagement
Increase strategic partnerships while connecting with public and private institutions that create supportive learning environments and improves the future of students.

PILLAR THREE
Organizational Transformation
Organizational Transformation and ensure schools are organized to accelerate student learning with supports and interventions tailored to the needs of each campus.

COLLABORATION THROUGH PARTNERSHIPS

The California Endowment + Building Healthy Communities: 5 Drivers of Change

Collaborative Efficacy
Collaborate by enhancing the quality and quantity of interactions between systems players, community-based organizations, and residents in settings that promote constructive and innovative system.

Leveraging Partnerships
Partnerships among the many sectors connected to BHC priorities to leverage new dollars or other discrete resources so that transformative community strategies thrive and are sustained.

People Power
Support for strategies to deepen resident engagement and leadership in local decision-making forums and organizing campaigns and for change in local systems and institutions.

Youth Leadership
Support youth leadership training while pushing for norms change in local systems and institutions to promote active participation by youth in decision making.

Changing the Narrative
To weave a compelling and new narrative about community health and prevention.

The California Endowment
www.calendow.org
www.healthhappenshere.org

Our Future in California
Works to cultivate community health prevention practices in order to improve neighborhood conditions.

Building Healthy Communities Collaborative
Building Healthy Communities is a ten-year, placed-based-focused initiative occurring in 14 selected target areas across the state of California.

BHC Site: South Sacramento

BHC South Sacramento Area

PILLAR ONE
Career- and College-Ready Students
Preparing students for the path of their choosing while developing skills that are tied to the real world of work.

PILLAR TWO
Family and Community Engagement
Increase strategic partnerships while connecting with public and private institutions that create supportive learning environments and improves the future of students.

PILLAR THREE
Organizational Transformation
Organizational Transformation and ensure schools are organized to accelerate student learning with supports and interventions tailored to the needs of each campus.

The California Endowment + Building Healthy Communities: 5 Drivers of Change

Collaborative Efficacy
Collaborate by enhancing the quality and quantity of interactions between systems players, community-based organizations, and residents in settings that promote constructive and innovative system.

Leveraging Partnerships
Partnerships among the many sectors connected to BHC priorities to leverage new dollars or other discrete resources so that transformative community strategies thrive and are sustained.

People Power
Support for strategies to deepen resident engagement and leadership in local decision-making forums and organizing campaigns and for change in local systems and institutions.

Youth Leadership
Support youth leadership training while pushing for norms change in local systems and institutions to promote active participation by youth in decision making.

Changing the Narrative
To weave a compelling and new narrative about community health and prevention.

The California Endowment
www.calendow.org
www.healthhappenshere.org

Our Future in California
Works to cultivate community health prevention practices in order to improve neighborhood conditions.

Building Healthy Communities Collaborative
Building Healthy Communities is a ten-year, placed-based-focused initiative occurring in 14 selected target areas across the state of California.

BHC Site: South Sacramento

BHC South Sacramento Area

PILLAR ONE
Career- and College-Ready Students
Preparing students for the path of their choosing while developing skills that are tied to the real world of work.

PILLAR TWO
Family and Community Engagement
Increase strategic partnerships while connecting with public and private institutions that create supportive learning environments and improves the future of students.

PILLAR THREE
Organizational Transformation
Organizational Transformation and ensure schools are organized to accelerate student learning with supports and interventions tailored to the needs of each campus.

The California Endowment + Building Healthy Communities: 5 Drivers of Change

Collaborative Efficacy
Collaborate by enhancing the quality and quantity of interactions between systems players, community-based organizations, and residents in settings that promote constructive and innovative system.

Leveraging Partnerships
Partnerships among the many sectors connected to BHC priorities to leverage new dollars or other discrete resources so that transformative community strategies thrive and are sustained.

People Power
Support for strategies to deepen resident engagement and leadership in local decision-making forums and organizing campaigns and for change in local systems and institutions.

Youth Leadership
Support youth leadership training while pushing for norms change in local systems and institutions to promote active participation by youth in decision making.

Changing the Narrative
To weave a compelling and new narrative about community health and prevention.

The California Endowment
www.calendow.org
www.healthhappenshere.org

Our Future in California
Works to cultivate community health prevention practices in order to improve neighborhood conditions.

Building Healthy Communities Collaborative
Building Healthy Communities is a ten-year, placed-based-focused initiative occurring in 14 selected target areas across the state of California.

BHC Site: South Sacramento

BHC South Sacramento Area

PILLAR ONE
Career- and College-Ready Students
Preparing students for the path of their choosing while developing skills that are tied to the real world of work.

PILLAR TWO
Family and Community Engagement
Increase strategic partnerships while connecting with public and private institutions that create supportive learning environments and improves the future of students.

PILLAR THREE
Organizational Transformation
Organizational Transformation and ensure schools are organized to accelerate student learning with supports and interventions tailored to the needs of each campus.

The California Endowment + Building Healthy Communities: 5 Drivers of Change

Collaborative Efficacy
Collaborate by enhancing the quality and quantity of interactions between systems players, community-based organizations, and residents in settings that promote constructive and innovative system.

Leveraging Partnerships
Partnerships among the many sectors connected to BHC priorities to leverage new dollars or other discrete resources so that transformative community strategies thrive and are sustained.

People Power
Support for strategies to deepen resident engagement and leadership in local decision-making forums and organizing campaigns and for change in local systems and institutions.

Youth Leadership
Support youth leadership training while pushing for norms change in local systems and institutions to promote active participation by youth in decision making.

Changing the Narrative
To weave a compelling and new narrative about community health and prevention.